

Take It On the Road

As the end of the semester approaches, now is your opportunity to take what you have learned in class and make it come alive. One of the best ways to do this is to conduct an informational interview. In an informational interview you have an opportunity to sit down with a professional or an industry expert, and get his/her insight, advice and wisdom on his/her career path. It is not a time to ask for jobs or internships, but to ask your questions and listen.

Work with a partner and map out your plan to take your learning on the road...

Choose a partner who has a similar career path.

Who would you want to interview?

Why should they want to talk to you?

What will you say when you ask for an interview?

What are three questions you want to ask?

When will you ask for an interview?

What's your next step to make this interview a reality?
